

Date: February 14, 2005

EDU Business Solutions Honored With the activePDF 2004 Solution Innovator Award

San Diego, CA – EDU Business Solutions is the proud recipient of the activePDF 2004 Solution Innovator Award. Tim Sullivan, President and CEO of activePDF, congratulates EDU for “providing the highest level of services to activePDF clients.”

EDU Business Solutions specializes in developing premium business and network software solution programs for large and medium sized organizations. They have partnered with activePDF, a leading provider of PDF creation, conversion and development tools, to deliver innovative products and services to the business community.

EDU is recognized for the development of their software program, Print Shop Pro, which has proven to be a cost effective tool that increases productivity for customers by improving their internal operations. The uniquely engineered Print Shop Pro enables in-plant print shops to fully automate the printing process of a document. The user-friendly software allows print orders to be easily placed, processed, and tracked via the web. This time-saving technology also gives print shops the convenience of effectively managing both customer service and monetary operations within the facility. EDU has partnered with activePDF to enhance the printing quality of a document by converting the original files to be printed into PDF format for better clarity, overall appearance, and print integrity. EDU’s inventive software benefits renowned universities, prominent corporations, and numerous school districts, cities, and counties.

For the past three years, EDU’s creative solutions have contributed to the growth and success of activePDF and their clients. To show their high level of appreciation for EDU’s exceptional contribution, activePDF has recognized EDU for their overall performance, technological innovation, customer service and support, and sales performance.

EDU founder, Mike Strand, emphasizes that “the success of the company is clearly attributed to the accomplishments of an extremely innovative and devoted staff.” This well-deserved accolade is a reflection of the dedication and hard work that is continuously displayed by EDU Business Solutions.